The Equality Act

“HR5 proposes profound and far-reaching changes to the Civil Rights Act that directly threaten religious liberty, free speech, freedom of conscience, the sanctity of life, parental rights, and the privacy and safety of women and girls.”

They explain the Act and its dangers for us:

- o Threatens Religious Freedom and Free Speech
- o Undermines Parental Rights and Instruction
- o Redefines Gender (Male and Female) to Include “Sexual Orientation” and “Gender Identity”
- o Removes the protections of the Religious Freedom Restoration Act
- o Forces Faith-Based Organizations to Hire Employees Who Do Not Share Their Beliefs
- o Requires All Organizations Open to the Public to Open Up Their Bathrooms
- o Jeopardizes Girls’ and Women’s Athletic and Educational Opportunities
- o Forces Health Care Providers to Provide Abortions, Gender Transition Treatments

Public School Curriculum

A new sexual orthodoxy is being imposed upon children in public schools — one which is endorsed and promoted by the state, and conflicts with the fundamental religious convictions of countless families. Therefore, the public school system is no longer inclusive to people of faith.

LGBT Lessons developed by Garden State Equality far exceed the requirements of the “contributions” law passed in 2019. Sex Ed Learning Standards for Health and Physical Education include:

- o 13-year-old students must define explicit sex acts — vaginal, oral, and anal sex.
- o 10-year-old students must be able to differentiate between sexual orientation and gender identity.
- o 7-year-old students must list medical names for genitals in mature words as vagina, vulva, penis, scrotum, and define reproduction.
- o 5-year-old students - the “diversity and inclusion” mandate requires public schools to teach sexual orientation and transgender identity lessons in Kindergarten.

School Choice - Senate Bill 3002 and Assembly Bill 3000 give parents an alternative if the local public school would not allow them to opt their child out of lessons that violated their fundamental beliefs.
